

Making Positive Moves – a recap, and sharing some of our early findings

Making Positive Moves is a research project.

We are talking to people with learning disabilities who have moved out of hospital.

We are trying to find out what helps someone to stay out of hospital.

We have some exciting results so far.

We are going to share some of our early findings with some blogs.

We are grateful for the people who have taken part and helped us with our research.

If you have any comments about the website or the research, we would love to hear them.
